The JFC Company

In the last 15 years, JFC has built an image and reputation unsurpassed by anyone. For president Gary Jones, seeing the area evolve tastefully is not just business – it's personal. Gary is a longtime Payson resident who started his family-owned business in 1990. Today, JFC's envied portfolio reflects more than 110 local luxury homes, and it continues to grow. It's a growth tied to trust, talent and good word spreading fast.

Tastes differ. So do JFC homes.

The essence of our meticulous process is emphasizing excellent communication from start to finish, ensuring a fun and personally rewarding experience for you. First, we listen and learn – identifying individual nuances, tastes and lifestyles. Then, talented architects and designers begin to find a "natural fit" for each family. The result may be a precision-crafted mountain retreat of any kind – from traditional mountain and log homes, to mountain Tuscan and Yellowstone lodge. Each finds harmony with nature, seamlessly nestled within a lush landscape of pine and evergreen, under a star-filled evening sky.

Compromise is not in our vocabulary.

At JFC, expect an eye for detail in all we do. A rich diversity of original material choices becomes our palette – as premium becomes standard. Granite, stone and hardwood grace interior surfaces, combining style and function. Towering beams inspire awe. Stone fireplaces beckon another era. And custom sound and media packages create splendid entertainment options.

Lifetime warranty

Integrity – both in construction and our word. Attention to detail. Synchrony with nature. These are key elements of the JFC promise, cleanly captured in a unique warranty that will fully protect you for as long as you live there. And judging by current client behavior, that may prove to be a very, very long time.

This spectacular JFC home was recently featured in Arizona Foothills Custom Homes magazine.
