One with nature.

Building and designing mountain retreats requires a distinct style and need to address future maintenance. McIntyre responds with innovation and integration. Every design must synchronize with nature and often employs alternative materials. In so doing, McIntyre homes are consistently exceptional in style and construction.

Quality doesn't go unnoticed.

At McIntyre, the greatest reward is a satisfied client. However, recognition from peers and the public are valued, too. In addition to being featured in Sunset magazine, this growing list of distinctions now includes:

- The coveted 1997 Blue Chip Enterprise Award for the State of Arizona
- 2003 Governor's Conference Award for Main Street entry
- The 2004 Governor's Conference Award for Best Public/Private Sector
- 1996 Contractor of the Year Award – Women Construction Owners & Executives

Variety in style.

In order to best satisfy individual preferences, McIntyre offers its homebuyers great latitude in home style and construction. Choose from many styles – from traditional mountain home to contemporary, Spanish, or Tuscan retreats.
